

RECOGNIZING FACES AROUND BEAUMONT

Featured above: Carol Malone, Hospice; Don Gulock, Volunteer Services; Robyn Thomas, External Quality Measures; Gail Perbogan, Central Processing; Lynda Mosed-Vogel, M.D., Colon Rectal Surgery; Peter Accica, OR.

Raising funds to support the Beaumont Health System is one of the responsibilities of Lora Cabarios, senior associate director of Development at the Beaumont Foundation.

In 2006, when the opportunity arose for a philanthropic career at Beaumont, Lora jumped at the opportunity. “At Beaumont, I feel I am making a difference each and every day. Knowing that the money we raise will benefit the patients in the community is a very satisfying feeling,” she says.

Being part of the team that supports the Beaumont Foundation is very important and rewarding for her. There are Foundation staff members on each campus who coordinate fundraising with each hospital. Lora’s office is based out of the Troy hospital. “We have so many wonderful programs and services at Beaumont. I am very proud to be a part of this organization,” she says.

Lora’s responsibilities include meeting with hospital staff, potential donors, accessing the needs of the health system as identified by hospital administration and building relationships at events or one-on-one meetings. “In my job, there is no typical day,” she says.

Prior to Beaumont, Lora worked as a special events coordinator for Art Van Furniture, where one of her responsibilities was determining where the company spent their sponsorship dollars. She also planned and organized marketing events for the state-wide retailer.

Her events background is what initially brought her to Beaumont. As her fundraising experience grew and it became clear that she was good at soliciting prospective event sponsors, the Foundation asked Lora to try her skills in the area of major gifts. Lora now works with business contacts and with individuals wishing to make a personal contribution to a Beaumont program.

When she is not busy fundraising, Lora enjoys spending time with her two daughters, Bianca, 7, and Carina, 5.

INSIDE BEAUMONT NEWS

Please send feedback, articles, letters, Meet the Team and People in the News suggestions or ideas to the editor.

Editor
Rebecca Calappi, Corporate Communications
248-551-9570
rcalappi@beaumont.edu

Photographers
Elizabeth DeBeliso and Mark Nuytten
Marketing